

Check List for Reviewers

Dear reviewer,

You have agreed to review a manuscript submitted to Russian Ophthalmological Journal.

We are asking you to express your opinion on the possibility of publishing this manuscript, according to the following criteria, designed in order to ensure high quality of the journal as one of Russia's leading peer reviewed periodical in ophthalmology:

1. Relevance of the work for the field;
2. Novelty;
3. Presence of incorrectly borrowed content or plagiarism;
4. Theoretical and practical significance, potential impact;
5. Quality and reproducibility of results;
6. Compliance with the norms set out by the corresponding sections of the Journal's Ethics Policy, Human Rights Policy, and Animal Rights Policy;
7. Quality of the writing (please include remarks on language, grammar, and style).

Please supply your questions and/or comments if you consider them necessary.

Please upload the review to the respective field of the managing system within 4 weeks of receiving the article.

Please be advised that if there are substantial comments that cannot be resolved by the editorial board, the original manuscript with a copy of the review signed by the editorial board (not by the reviewer!) will be sent to the submitting author for revision.

In the case of rejection of the manuscript, a copy of the review, signed by the editorial board, is sent to the authors, whereby they are notified that the submission has been declined.

Thank you for your cooperation and assistance.

Editor-in-Chief of Russian Ophthalmological Journal

Vladimir V. Neroev